

Emerging Spirits Happy-nings

Reverend Jymmisms

"Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free, the wretched refuse of your teeming shore. Send these, the homeless, tempest-tost to me, I lift my lamp beside the golden door," from the poem The New Colossus a sonnet by American poet Emma Lazarus written in 1883. In 1903, the poem was engraved on a bronze plaque and mounted inside the lower level of the pedestal of the Statue of Liberty. For many immigrants, this was the New Jerusalem. Heaven.

We are known as the melting pot, of the world, or more like "We are all in this together".

The statue of liberty is a robed female figure representing Libertas, the Roman goddess, who bears a torch and a tablet evoking the law upon which is inscribed the date of the American Declaration of Independence, July 4, 1776, a broken chain lies at her feet, an icon of freedom.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness." Thomas Jefferson true independence: to be free from all the things that do not serve you, to be free to trust your own wisdom and follow it, To be free to feel as deeply as you can and love as fully as possible, Dr. Barbara De Angelis.

We are citizens of these United States, but we are also global citizens of this earth. We need to think in higher thoughts of consciousness of Good, Unity and Love and move beyond any division that would keep us separate. We are all truly One.

This 4th of July we will celebrate our freedom and our independence. Let us also declare our Interdependence today, the idea that everything in nature is connected to everything else. Interdependence honors each person's desires, needs, feelings, ideas, and ways without letting any party become either submissive or dominating. In interdependent relationships, unity, balance, and love thrive. Together we can be wiser than any of us can be alone.

Mahatma Gandhi stated "Interdependence is and ought to be as much the ideal of man as self-sufficiency. Man is a social being. Without interrelation with society he cannot realize his oneness with the universe or suppress his egotism. His social interdependence enables him to test his faith and to prove himself on the touchstone of reality." We are truly One, a people, a nation, under God.

Practitioners' Corner

July is a busy month for honoring and celebrating. It is the 7th month of the Julian and Gregorian calendars, and one of seven months with 31 days. July is National Ice Cream, Hot Dog and Blueberry month, as well as an Awareness month for Sarcoma and Color Blindness. On the 1st is a celebration of Canadian nationalism, heritage and pride. Originally known as Dominion Day, it marks the passage of the British North American Act, (7-1-1867) which enabled Canada to be self-governing. The U.S. and Canada share the largest un-defended border in the world. And you are all familiar with the 4th, Independence Day, to commemorate the signing of the Declaration of Independence (7-4-1776), making the United States independent from Britain. It is a time to enjoy the summer festivities launching vacation time, picnics with family, hot dogs, ice cream, parades, and fireworks. We proudly display our nation's flag of red, white and blue and rejoice in our freedoms.

Behind several of these events is a sense of joy and freedom. Thomas Jefferson noted the inalienable right to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" in our Declaration of Independence. Each may seek their happiness in whatever way they choose, so long as they do not infringe upon the freedom of others to pursue a similar end.

(Not unlike the nearly universal philosophy to love our neighbors as ourselves.) With freedoms come responsibilities. We are each responsible to do what we can to resolve our personal and world-wide concerns in a positive, loving and peaceful manner. It means overriding the impulse to be hateful and holding love for everyone, even those who we strongly disagree with. Agree to disagree with respect and compassion! Only Love can conquer fear and hate. As we grow this love within, we can better shine it outward to others. Let each one of us go fearlessly forward and change the world for the better with our love!

Pet Health this Summer

As the weather gets hotter this summer, here are a few tips to remember to keep your four-pawed friends safe. The American Red Cross encourages:

- 1. Make sure pet is wearing ID tag, and has an ID chip. If lost, an ID tag could be their home.
- 2. Never leave your pet in the car (even with a cracked open window)! Besides being illegal in many states, temps can quickly rise to 120 degrees in just minutes, even when parked in shade. Could cause heat stroke! If you see a pet left alone in a car, alert the nearest store manager. If owner does not return promptly, call Animal Control or Police immediately.
- 3. Don't put your pet in the back of an open truck. Your pet is exposed to heat, inclement weather, flying debris. If you stop suddenly they could be thrown out of back into traffic. Always ride with restrained animal in back seat of cab or car.
- 4. Watch out for deadly plants and fertilizers. Plant food, fertilizer and insecticides can be fatal if your pet ingests them. And over 700 plants can cause physiologically active or toxic substances in sufficient amounts to cause harmful effects.
- 5. Always have drinking water available.
- 6. Recognize and treat signs of Heat Stroke. Signs and symptoms of heat stroke in your pet include: collapse, body temp >104 degrees Fahrenheit or above, bloody diarrhea or vomit, depression stupor, seizures or coma, excessive panting or difficulty breathing, increased heart rate, and salivation. Treatment includes: Get dog out of direct heat; Check for shock; Take your dog's temperature; Spray dog with cool water; and Re-take temp. The Goal is to decrease pet's body temp to 103' F in the first 10-15 minutes. Once 103' F reached, stop cooling process as body will continue to decrease on own. Take your pet to Vet immediately. Consequences of heat stroke (like abnormal heart beat, kidney failure, neurological problems and respiratory arrest) may not show up or hours or even days.

Let's all take good care of our furry friends!

Freedom Isn't Free

Real freedom means that we are created in the image of perfection and let alone to make the discovery for ourselves. Ernest Holmes

Sounds so easy, but is it? Left alone it seems as though I can get so far off course that even the God of my understanding has a hard time helping me discover my miss step and where I have pushed the limits. God has a hard time because I am not willing to understand that I, alone, have forgotten that I am created in the image of perfection. I have forgotten to keep the eternal and internal conscious connection that is so vital to my staying on course.

Daily I must stop long enough to quiet my mind and make the connection, say a few words of encouragement and pray for myself and others. For in this practice I have the freedom, however, like many other areas of my life I tend to let outer circumstances decide whether I have the time. Thus, I have given up my freedom to circumstances and situations.

Many long years ago Religious Science saved my life. I learned then that prayer, meditation, affirmations and the quiet connection with Spirit was vital to my growth as a human being and my relationship with God. When I forget this, my life can be a sad state of affairs. And, I do have many moments when I forget.

Freedom isn't free, as it takes time and energy that sometimes we are not willing to give. Yet if we want a life that is free of stress, worry and other negative experiences, it is necessary that we spend the precious time and energy in seeking and living in a personal relationship with the God of our own understanding.

So, for me, in order to know my freedom I have to make that connection daily and when I do my life is so much more fulfilling.

Allow yourself to be free!!!
